Coit in the Caucasus.

We find the following interesting anecdote, interesting the value of a recent American inventers, in an English paper of the 18th February:

In Daghestan, a young Lesghbar chief being selectery wounded during one of the frequent razzias of the Russians, took refuge in a raised sakif, in order to apply bandinges to his wounds. While thus samplayed be west discovered by a party of twelve dismounted frageons who immediately gave classe on his taking flight. Being fleet of foot for a stort while he cuttran them, during which was over a rapid torrent at the foot for a stort while he cuttran them, during the rose of the frequent razing one of the frequent razing which it me such of them as had their carbines iscaled fired at him ineffectually. Having crossed one of the flexible bridege, common in that country, and which was over a rapid torrent at the foot for a mountain, the fugility, finding himself unable to proceed much farther, and having time to put his arms on order, stood at tway under a projecting rock. With yells of delight and uplifted salves, the Russians approached the bridge. The foremest nearing him crient, "Tield dog."

"Not while I have twelve lives at my girdle," cried the undanned mountainneer.

The Russians in the rear laughed loudly at the down the Leeghian, when a fourth distingle-cartered his brains on the rocky parapet, and his lifeless body tumbled into the forrent beneath. Three of the Kassians had now fallon. "What devil of a pistol is this, that speaks so often?", cried the americes no each other. The Lesguian still stood firm, merely folding his polisse of sheep's skin round his left arm, ready to receive a blow, a precention not unneeded, since now two Russians, abreast, were on the point of assailing him. Cermain of their prey, they advanced more cautiously than their predecessus. This time two delibermes shows thought them down right and left;

each fell pierced over the region of the heart.—
The remaining solidiers were amazed.

The Lesghian, faint with less of blood, and feeling his strength fast chibing, now drew forth another pistol, a movement unobserved by the enemy, and repulity fred three shots at the other end of the lefting. Or live to his sieth heins now dim.

To Mr. Hunter we know no personal objection To Mr. Hunter we know no personal objection, but a provision of the constitution bears acrongly against his selection. Sec. 12, art. 4, declares that no member of the legislature shall during the term for which he was elected be appointed or elected to any civil office in the state, which shall have been created or the encluments of which shall have been increased, during the term for which he was elected."

for which he was elected."

The office of private secretary was created, and the pay for the duties pertaining to it increased, during the last assistent of the legislature. Mr. Honter was and is a member of the legislature which created the office, and we cannot see how his appointment is not a clear violation of the provision we have quoted.

Southern Commercial Convention. SIXTH BAY.

CHARLESTON, April 15.—The grand Southern Pacific Railroad project was adopted after a warm debuie between all the leading men in the Convention. The clause authorizing the corporation to negotiate with Mexico was strongly opposed, and the resolutions in favor of the Gadaden treaty, and alternate sections of public land for railroad purposes also caused bitter opposition. The Virginia delegates were withdrawn.

The Convention adjourned to meet in New Orleans on the account Monday in January next.

A telegraphic dispatch to a Vermont paper last week, relative to the Breck inridge difficulty, was thus rendered:

"We have nothing further relative to the cutting and breaking its bridge."

Moss Loconorues—A city coving west in a single week. We noticed last week that the Michigan Southern Railread Company had contracted for seventy new passenger cars in order to accommodate the increasing travel that was passing wastward. They have also ordered twenty new locomotives of the largest class from the best eastern minifactures. They are intended to run the Express trains on that road, "on time"—a thing which they will be abundantly able to do. Six of them are now at Buffalo, on their way to Toledo. Most of the passenger trains came in last week with two locomotives, and the reason for this great increase of power will be understood when it is known that nearly the technismal passengers arrived from the east by this road during the last week—a city in the short space of six days. It would be a curious item if we could know where all these people are going and whence they came. We leave that to the researches of some inquisitive Yankee.—Chicago Press.

The Virginia delegation did not withdraw from the Southern Convention as stated in yesterday's despatch, but a rdsolution was withdrawn, on account of Virginia declaring that if the Convention recommended the squandering of lands on railroad projects, that State would never again.

Becial Despatch to the New York Daily Times.

Washington, Tuesday, April 18.

The Senate to day reconsidered the vote rejecting the Gadsdon treaty. Another effort is making for its ratification. Messrs. Jones, Dawson and Tocoms arrived in town to-day, making three affirmative votes. As the vote was understood to stand yesterday, a change of two or three negatives will ratify it. The friends of the treaty have strong hopes of accomplishing this.

Beniamin F. Angel was rejected as Consul to monolulu to-day, because he was a Free-Soller in '49, and a Piecce man in '54.
